

REMARKS

2 By the foregoing amendment, typographical errors appearing in the Specification and in claim 23 have been corrected. In addition, the dependencies of claims 16 and 4 17 have been altered to clarify ambiguity in those claims as filed.

 Finally, independent claims 1 and 8 have been somewhat broadened by 6 removing the claim requirement that the interruption be of a size and shape roughly approximating the window. Further, claim 22 has been broadened by specifying that the 8 interruption is of a size or shape that roughly approximates or is larger than the window.

 No new matter is involved. Note that the last sentence on page 12 of the 10 application as filed specifies that the window is narrower than the interruption and that provides support for the changes to claims 1, 8 and particularly 22. With respect to the 12 latter, if the window is narrower than the interruption, then the interruption must necessarily be larger than the window.

An action on the merits is awaited.

Respectfully submitted,

By
Jeffery M. Fairchild
Reg. No. 37,825

Date: February 20, 2004

WOOD, PHILLIPS, KATZ,
CLARK & MORTIMER
Citicorp Center, Suite 3800
500 West Madison Street
Chicago, Illinois 60661-2511
312/876-1800